HONGKONG MARU FROM ORIENT

Over three and a half millions of dollars are lying alongside the Pacific Mall wharf. That is the value placed upon the steamship Hongkong Maru and her cargo by Purser Freeman.

Nearly a million dollars worth of silk is in her hold, and she carries in her treasure tanks over half a million dollars forth of opium. Then she has hundreds of tons of other valuable merchandise.

The Hongkong Maru arrived off port from the Grient early yesterday afternoon, naving sailed from Hongkong on March 4th, Macao the same day, Shanghal on the 7th, Nagasaki on the 9th, Kobe on the IIth, and Yokohama on the 13th.

She prought the following passengers for Honolulu: K. Hirayama, Rev. U. Kawai, Michi Masuda, and 32 steerage

Those going through to San Francisco are: Cel. G. B. Austen, I. S. C.; E. W. Dickerman, F. A. Green, M. Ichiku, D. Ikeda, P. S. Maicolm, Miss K. J. Phillips, J. D. Power, W. J. Pyke, E. G. Rhey, Miss E. C. Scarbett, T. W. Travers, H. C. Windie, J. J. Wilkamp, E. J. Hall, John Hall, N. C. Kist, Kari Krutz, J. D. Lundquist, K. Masuko. Krutz, J. D. Lundquist, K. Masuko, James Olsen, Tsak Rygel, Malwei Safer, K. Tatsumi, K. M. Trundsen, John E. Young, and 167 steerage passenge s The Maru brought a little over 655 tons of Oriental merchandise for this port. She commenced to discharge her cargo at 7 o'clock last evening, and was working the hatches all night. About 9 o'clock it was found that there were not enough men on the Pacific Mail wharf to work the cargo. There were no men available in the immediate vicinity, so the old game of blow-ing three whistles for a steamer was 3:55 resorted to.

4:32 Upon the sighting of a steamer the whistle at the electric plant is blown 2:05 5:26 three times. Everybody recognizes the whistle. When there are not enough stevedores on hand to work cargo on any vessel which is in a hurry to clear the whistle is also blown three times for the purpose of attracting other men to the wharf. They imagine that an-other steamer has been sighted, and immediately hasten from all over town to get work.

the Hongkong Maru will sail for the Coast today. At 7 o'clock this morning the time of her departure will be set. The probabilities are that she will get away about 10 o'clock.

TWENTY-SEVEN

When the Hongkong Maru, Captain Filmer, arrived off port yesterday afternoon from the Orient the America Maru was just starting for the Orient. The Hongkong signalled the America to lay to, and then Purser Freeman, of the Hongkong, went to the America in a boat. He visited the purser of the America, and they had a long talk to-

The Hongkong Maru had twentyanxious to send back to the Orient, whence they had come. They were all stowaways, and the Hongkong had had a great deal of

The greatest trouble came, however, when the stowaways were about to be transferred to the America Maru to be sent back to their native land. They absolutely refused to recognize any authority, and would not agree to be sent back. It became necessary to summon the entire crew of the Hongkong to get the twenty-seven Japantogether from all parts of the ship The tides at Kahului and Hilo occur and to keep them together until they could be taken to the vessel going to

> After Purser Freeman had made the arrangements with the purser of the America Maru it was necessary for him to obtain the permission of the collector of port before he could transfer the stowaways from one boat to the other. This was finally secured and, while the two Toyo Kisen Kaisha steamships were lying outside of the harbor, only a little distance from each other, twenty-six of the stowaways were taken from the Hongkong, in the ship's boats, and put aboard the America. The Hongkong was very glad to be rid of them, for they had been the cause of no end of trouble aboard. The America was equally serry to receive them, but there was no help for it, the men had to be returned to Japan, and they had to go back on the first boat of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha. It was very fortunate for the Hongkong Maru that the America was delayed in getting away from this port, otherwise she would have had to take the stowaways to San Francisco, or else leave them at the quarantine station here at a great deal of expense.

Purser Freeman, in explaining how the stowaways happened to get aboard, said the vessel was two days late in salling from Hongkong, and that when she arrived at Yokohama she had to rush the working of cargo. At Yokohama there were probably over seven hundred coolies aboard the vessel up to ROOMS, single or en suite. Apply 30 Port Los Angeles with 545 Porto Rican the last minute before her departure and twenty-seven of them made up the coal bunkers, and on the day after the ship had gone to sea began to Kauai.
